HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS NEEDED TO SERVE ON MAYOR'S YOUTH ADVISORY COMMISSION

GLENDALÉ, Ariz. – Mayor Jerry Weiers is seeking new members for his Mayor's Youth Advisory Commission (MYAC). Several vacancies have been created as a result of former MYAC members graduating from high school this past spring.

"This is a great opportunity for Glendale's best and brightest high school students to learn about their city firsthand and see what goes on behind the scenes," said Weiers. "MYAC members tend to be high achievers with busy lives, yet they still find time to serve their community."

MYAC provides high school students with opportunities to make a positive impact in Glendale by getting involved in their local city government and community. Youth commission members volunteer for community service activities, raise funds for projects and serve as a liaison to the mayor as the foremost voice on local youth-related issues.

Commission members must commit approximately five hours per month to attend meetings and participate in activities. Standing commission meetings are held each month at Glendale City Hall.

To be eligible for the competitive selection process, teens must reside in Glendale and be enrolled in high school for the 2013-14 school year, as well as submit a completed membership application.

Applications can be downloaded at www.glendaleaz.com/mayor/myac.cfm. The deadline to submit an application is Friday, August 23. Completed applications can be dropped off or mailed to: Office of the Mayor, City of Glendale, 5850 W. Glendale Ave., Glendale, AZ 85301.
